

The Great Bug Hunt 2011

What will you find..?

Martin Rapley
Experience Science Live!

schoolscience.co.uk

bring you an exciting new competition for primary schools that takes you outside to explore the bug world!

Simply identify a habitat, explore and discover the bugs that live there, draw them and record your findings - it's that simple - plus, with the added benefits of fresh air, having fun and covering important parts of the science curricula in one fell swoop!

And to help, we are offering a Guide to Land Invertebrates at half price!

The winner will be the submission with the most diverse range of bugs and the most innovative and clearly presented findings (e.g. map, drawn images of bugs, tips taken from website, follow-up findings), regardless of how big or small your facilities!

First prize is a Bug Day in your school, which will include the Big Bug Experience and bug sculpting, Other prizes include a wildlife identification pack, three terrariums and ten runners up prizes of Martin The Bug Man's Guide to Big Bugs.

You can carry out your bug survey at any time but your entry must reach us by June 15th 2011.
